Extension for Commission of Inquiry

The Commission of Inquiry into the Tasmanian Government's Responses to Child Sexual Abuse in Institutional Settings has received an extension to its final reporting date.

The Commission will now hand down its final report by 1 May 2023.

The Commission sought the extension after receiving advice from the Tasmanian Government on the potential impact of COVID-19. That advice led to the difficult decision to postpone the Commission's public hearings.

The Commission's hearings will recommence in Hobart on Monday 2 May 2022.

Further details on the hearings will be made available on the Commission's website.
